STUDENTS' CONVENTION 2005:

New Benchmark in Freedom of Expression

President Musharraf Displays Exemplary Forbearance and Appreciation of Scathing Criticism

YOUTH made their presence felt at the Students' Convention. The Second Youth Convention, organized by the Higher Education Commission, was held at the Convention Centre, Islamabad, on 7-9 April, 2005.

Empowerment of youth has been an integral aspect of President General Pervez Musharraf's agenda for Change in Pakistan ever since he came to power. He reposes great trust in the youth of Pakistan, as is evident from the fact that he held a special consultative meeting with university students from all across Pakistan, on the eve of the Agra Summit. A similar consultative exercise was conducted on the eve of the Presidential Referendum in 2002.

In accordance with this new priority accorded to youth, the Higher Education Commission organized the First Students' Convention in Islamabad last year. In the light of the experience gained from the First Convention, HEC decided to hold the Second Convention this year on an even larger scale.

SECOND PAKISTAN UNIVERSITIES GAMES

Sports is an important medium to build discipline

— Shaukat Aziz

IF we do not develop and globalize we will be history..... if we work hard ourselves, we will make history", declared Prime Minister Shaukat Aziz, while inaugurating the Second Pakistan Universities Games in Islamabad on 11 April. "Sports is an important medium to build discipline", he added, and urged the participants to show sportsman spirit during the course of the games.

More than 4500 athletes representing 68 universities from all over Pakistan participated in the Second Annual HEC Games at Jinnah Stadium, Islamabad.

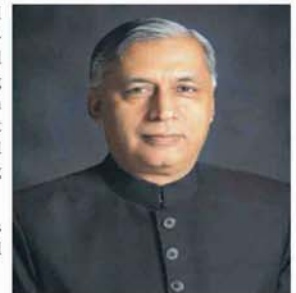

The most spectacular aspect of the show was parachute jumping by the smart airmen of the Pakistan Air Force, who landed right in the middle of the Jinnah Stadium.

Among the girls, Punjab University dominated the athletics competitions, picking up five gold medals.

In the final tally, Punjab University retained the title after accumulating 809 points in the Games, which concluded at the Liaquat Gymnasium on 18 April.

The defending champions won 35 gold, 25 silver and 11 bronze medals for the first position. University of

Islam Gives An Exalted Status To Women

- Dr Faeeda Ahmed

Prophet Mohammad (PBUH) was the role model for the entire humanity. For the first time in history, and in the face of fierce opposition, Prophet Mohammad (PBUH), not only granted, but actually ensured women their rightful legal and social rights.

A Jashn-e-Milad for ladies was held at Greenwich University on Sunday evening. It was largely attended by a cross section of women from all parts of the city. The distinguished guests included Mohtarma Shahina Ishtat Khan, wife of the Sindh Governor.

Dr Farida Ahmed, a distinguished Islamic scholar, addressed the gathering, citing various instances from the public and private life of Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) "He was the greatest role model for the entire mankind, not only for the Muslims", said Dr Ahmed. "He stood for peace, tolerance, brotherhood, and equality", she went on to add.

She also stressed the respect and recognition Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) accorded to women in their various roles in public and private life.

Apart from the female students of Greenwich University, some eminent naat khwan soulfully recited beautiful naats on the occasion. They included Tabinda Lari, Hooria Rafiq, Ishtat Iqbal, Tajalli Zaheer, Samina Kamal, Ms. Seema Mughal, Vice-Chancellor with Mohtarma Shaheena Ishtat Khan wife of the Sindh Governor.

Noureen Ajmal, Haseena Jabeen, Ghazala Ghazal, Prof. Naheed, Sana Ali, Ayesha Parveen, Rushda Chughtai, Nida Jawaid, Sahifa Rasheed Rizvi, Naureen Shamim, Yamna Tarranum, Sarwat Shafi, Sehar Aqil.

Jashn-e-Milad (p.b.u.h) has become an important annual event, not only for the students and faculty of Greenwich University, but generally for the female population of the metropolis, who look forward to it with a sense of anticipation and enthusiasm.

This year too, the event was marked by a sense of religious propriety and festivity.

The entire campus was tastefully illuminated with colourful lights, and each guest was given flowers on arrival, and a packet of specially packed sweets on their departure. All participants expressed their appreciation to Ms Seema Mughal, the Vice-Chancellor, for the meticulous planning of a grand and memorable event. ■

Prof. Dr. Atta-Ur-Rahman welcoming participants at the Convention

Prof. Dr. S. Sohail H. Naqvi addressing the Convention

The National Students' Convention was held in the glittering Convention Center on 7 - 9 April. The hall was packed to capacity, and was attended by university students from all parts of the country.

The President of Pakistan, who attended the Convention on the last day, set an example of patience and forbearance as he sat and listened to some really scathing criticism of his policies by the young fire-brands and tion of freedom of expression allowed by the present government.

It was obvious from the lack of preparedness of many speakers that they had not done their home-work for such an important event. And for this, their teachers and guides are largely to be blamed. They should have taken their task more seriously. The participants should have assimilated the content rather than simply cramming it in the manner of a college debate. The speeches were "full of sound and fury", through not signifying much. Sadly, the greater concentration, was on rhetorics rather than substance. One felt that there was much room for improvement, so far as the organizational aspect of the convention was concerned. The evaluation, for instance, left much to be desired. It was a bad idea to turn the discussion into the format of a competition. The speakers were more concerned with the typical gimmickry of debates, rather than with the content and quality of their speeches.

At the concluding ceremony, President General Pervez Musharraf gave away certificates, and a cash prize of Rs.25,000/- to each participant who had made it to the Final Round. Naveed Mansoor Nagori from Greenwich University was one of the fortunate recipients on this memorable occasion.

Well done, Nagori! Well done Greenwich! ■ was much more participation, and some sadness, for those who couldn't win during the games," observed Dr Sohail Naqvi, Chairman of the Organizing Committee, in his detailed report.

Chairman Senate, Mohammadmian Soomro, who was the acting President of Pakistan at the time, was the chief guest on the occasion. He distributed shields to all the winners and runners-up of the 18 events that were competed during the one week long event.

Greenwich University took an active part both on the field and off the field. Mr Khalid Khan of Greenwich University organizing committee of Prof Dr Atta-ur-Rahman, in his welcome address, wished success and good luck to the participants. He announced that swimming would be added to the program in the next games. "This was the largest ever competition (in terms of participation) organized in the history of Pakistan" said Prof Dr Atta-ur-Rahman. "This is part of the strategy to emphasize on various sports activities which help in character building and bring sportsmanship spirit to the students", he concluded.

As a token of appreciation of the active assistance extended by Greenwich University to the Higher Education Commission, a shield was presented to Ms Seema Mughal, Vice-Chancellor of Greenwich University. ■

Dr Ishrat-ul-Ebad Khan, Governor Sindh, hosted a reception for the students selected, on the basis of a competition on the province-wise level for participation in the Islamabad Students' Convention. The winners are seen in the photograph with the Governor of Sindh and the Vice-Chancellor, Greenwich University, Ms Seema Mughal, (below). CROSS-FIRE

TO encourage the development of public speaking skills, Greenwich University makes sure that its students participate in academic events organized by educational institutions in different parts of the country. On quite a few occasions, our students have won top positions in English and Urdu debates and declamations. Moiz Allidina, Mustafa Ali Wahidi, Naveed Mansoor Nagori and Imran Nasir Ali have won trophies and prizes in English contests and Zeeshan

Tariq has brought honors to the university by winning in Urdu contests. Greenwich University also organizes in-house contests. On 14 March 2005, a crossfire debate was organized by SDCC in which six students participated. "Has Western influence on the East been negative" was the topic chosen by the students. The arguments on the topic were really full of fire.

This debate was a new experience for the students as it challenged their presence of mind, readiness, confidence and communication skills. At the end of the debate, the audience, which comprised faculty and students, was invited to ask questions from the participants.

Prof Dr Rafat Karim, Mr S.A. Waheed and Mr Michael Gledhill acted as judges. Team "A" comprised (1) Junaid Pervaiz (2) Muhammad Ali (3) Naeem Muhammad Khan, while team "B" comprised (1) Aman Haroon Gazi (2) Muhammad Umer (3) Huzaiifa Sadiq. "We", Not "I"

WHEN geese fly in formation, they travel about 70% faster than when they fly alone. Geese share leadership. When the lead goose tires, he (or she) rotates back into the "V" and another flies forward to become the leader. Geese keep company with the fallen. When a sick or weak goose drops out of flight formation, at least one other goose joins to help and protect. By being part of a team, we too can accomplish much more, much faster. Words of encouragement and support (honking from behind) help inspire and energize those on the front lines, helping them to keep pace in spite of the day-to-day pressures and fatigue.

And finally, show compassion and active caring for our fellow man, a member of the ultimate team: "Mankind". The next time you see a formation of geese, remember that it is a reward, a challenge, and a privilege to be a contributing member of a team.
